

We understand that Edinburgh's public buildings, facilities and workplaces need enhanced and specialist cleaning measures to support their operations (and in some cases, their reopening) in the coming weeks and months.

As an established Edinburgh cleaning specialist, we want to help protect the people of Edinburgh and help them get back to work safely.

We can do this by ensuring your buildings and facilities are hygienically cleaned and disinfected, to protect against contamination and the spread of COVID-19.

To support our local public services across Edinburgh and the Lothians, we are now providing specialist COVID-19 disinfectant cleaning services, using a range of specialist cleaning equipment, to keep employees and the public safe, including:

Specialist Fogging Machine

We use 'foggers' to disinfect and decontaminate commonly touched surfaces, such as door handles, rubbish bins, hand rails, kitchen surfaces, taps, kettles and toilet flushes. This limits the spread of infection, by maintaining high standards of hygiene and cleanliness in both public and staff only areas.

Steam vacuum cleaners

Our steam vacuum cleaners disinfect and decontaminate hard floor surfaces, without the use of chemicals. The steam is hot enough to kill germs and allergens, whilst the vacuum sucks up dirt and grime, to leave all hard floor areas hygienically cleaned and disinfected.

ATP Sanitation Monitoring Systems

Adenosine Triphosphate (ATP) is the energy molecule found in all living (and once-living) cells. Our ATP Sanitation Monitoring Systems allow us to swab test surfaces for ATP, to quickly assess their cleanliness, ensuring surfaces are kept hygienic and free from germs or potential infection.

All of our cleaning services are backed up by the appropriate Health & Safety Risk Assessments, Method Statements and Safe Operating Procedures.
